MOLOTOV IS CRITICAL OF PEACE PARLEY

Russian Foreign Minister Charges Conference Dominated by the United States

MAY ADJOURN TUESDAY

BULLETIN
Paris, Oct. 14.—(P)—The peace conference completed tonight its work on treaties, adopting the Finnish draft—last to be considered—over many objections from the United States.

BULLETIN
Paris, Oct. 14.—(P)—The Foreign Ministers Council agreed today to open discussions of the peace treaty with Germany in New York and scheduled its first general meeting for Nov. 4.

By MEL MOST
Paris, Oct. 14.—(P)—Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today attacked as "unsatisfactory" many of the results of the Paris peace conference, presaging a showdown of leading issues in the four-power foreign ministers' New York meeting.

Molotov, charging that the United States had dominated the conference, upheld the Soviet Union's right to $300,000,000 in reparations from Finland—a figure soon afterward ratified, over United States opposition, voiced by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. The Michigan senator sought to reduce the reparations figure to $200,000,000, but the conference voted this down 11 to 6.

Molotov remarked that only portions of the draft treaties with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland pleased Russia, and indicated that many of the issues would be thrown back into the Foreign Ministers Council where decisions must be unanimous.

The conference voted 11 to 8 to make Finland pay 75 percent compensation for United Nations property losses the act.

Vandenberg, ranking Republican member of the U. S. senate foreign relations committee, contended that Finland was unable to pay $300,000,000 in reparations, especially in view of stipulations that reparations could be marked up only 10 to 15 percent above 1938 prices.

He spoke a day after former President Herbert Hoover declared in a statement in New York that Finland could not pay the amount, which he said would be equivalent to a $200,000,000 bill for the United States.

He accused the United States, Great Britain and France of "violating their agreements" and "retreating" from four-power accord in the adoption of a number of "one-democratic measures" in connection with Trieste.

He spoke critically of guarantees written into Balkan treaties for free navigation of the Danube and complained that the conference had refused to fix Bulgarian boundaries as of January, 1941—an action that would have given Bulgaria some territory from Greece.

The conference of 21 nations, taking action on the final draft treaty with Finland, prepared to adjourn tomorrow. The draft treaties then must be approved finally by the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France at meetings (Turn to Page Nine)

Stillwell Ashes Will Be Scattered
San Francisco, Oct. 14.—(P)—Illness complicated by an ailment he probably contracted in the Burma jungles has ended the career of peppery, plain-spoken General Joseph W. Stillwell, commander of the Sixth Army.

The officer who was not too proud to admit he took a "hell of a beating" in the 1942 retreat from Burma died Saturday in Letterman General Hospital of cancer of the liver, complicated by an amoebic abscess he was believed to have suffered in jungle fighting.

At the presidio of San Francisco, the flag flew at half mast and cannon boomed a salute at half-hour intervals from reveille to retreat.

The army announced that after private services to be attended only by members of the family, General Stillwell's ashes, in accordance with his wishes, will be flown Wednesday over his home at Carmel, and then scattered over the Pacific ocean.

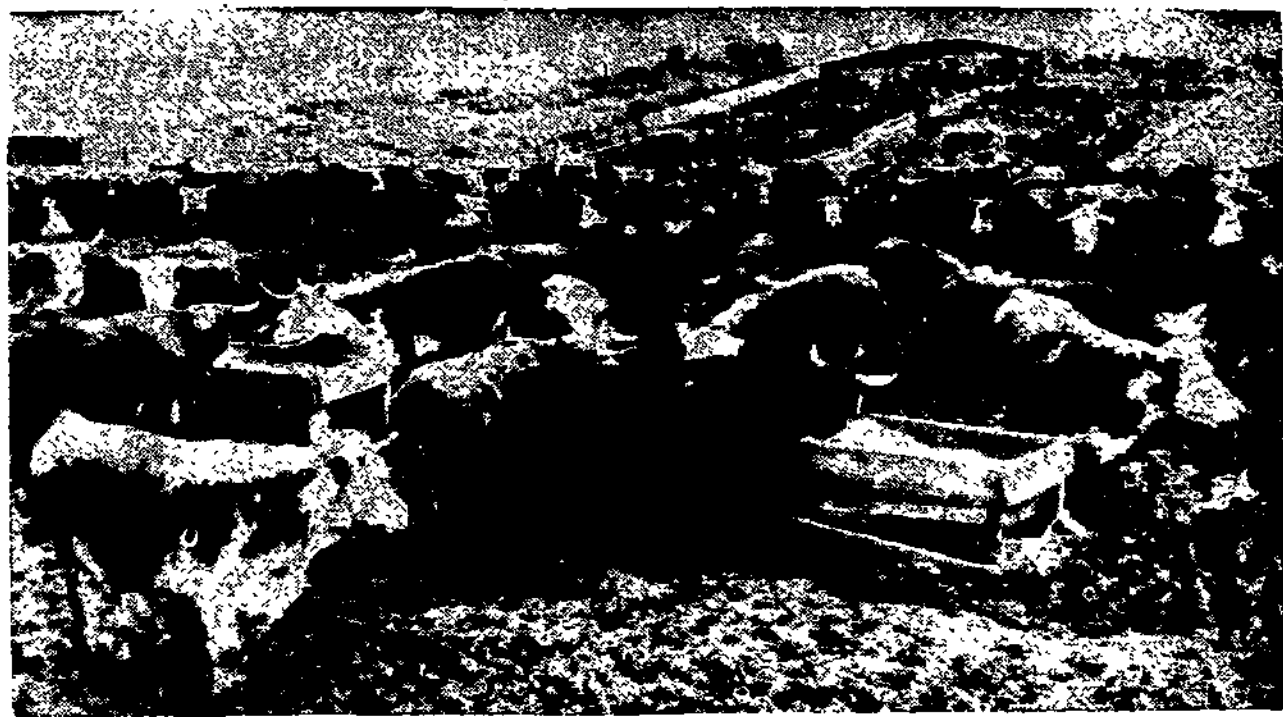

G. I. Taxicab Drivers In Philly Marching on National Capital
Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—(P)—The Philadelphia G. I. Taxicab Association today started a march on the state capital in its fight for a franchise.

Approximately 100 members left the city at 10 a. m. in a cavalcade of 25 cars and a sound truck for the 100-mile trip to Harrisburg. Association President Louis Israel said that immediately upon arrival the group will seek a hearing with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to protest delay in a decision on its application to operate in the Quaker City.

Israel said the members will camp on statehouse grounds until the commission acts. He said previously free cabs would be operated if the franchise is refused.

In Harrisburg, the department of property and supplies, which policies the capitol grounds, said the marchers will be assigned to a park area between the finance and education buildings of the capitol group.

Here's Why the Markets Are Empty

Pictorial Report On State Institutions Made Public

Four Farm Boys Are Killed In Gravel Pit

Lakeland, N. J., Oct. 14.—(P)—Buried beneath an estimated ton of gravel, mixed with clay and mud, four farm boys were killed near the Camden county institution. State police said the sides of a gravel pit in which the boys were playing collapsed yesterday and identified the victims as George Schini, 11, and his brother Robert, 12, of Black-N-J; Paul Conover, 13, of Conover's Corners, N. J., and Robert Heywood, of Blackwood.

The cave-in was discovered after Walter Conover, father of one of the boys, reported his son had been missing for several hours.

Cohort Urges Doomed Nazis To Be Strong

BULLETIN
Nuernberg, Germany, Oct. 14.—(P)—Prison officials confirmed today that the 11 condemned German war leaders would hang Wednesday morning. They refused to affirm or deny that the Nuernberg jail would be the scene. The correspondents chosen to represent the four occupying powers in a combined pool for news coverage were told to be ready to go into seclusion sometime tomorrow, perhaps in the evening. They were not informed where they would be taken. Their orders were stringent that, once they are en route, they are not to make contact with the outside world until the last hanging is completed.

Nuernberg, Oct. 14.—(P)—Julius Streicher, ranting Jew baiter number one of the Nazi regime, today urged his condemned associates to be "brave and strong" in their last 48 hours of life.

Streicher, once gauleiter of this Nuernberg area, will hang, too, on Wednesday, but he is seemingly untouched by impending doom.

This morning the beady-eyed little man, who openly advocated extermination of Jews, told a prison psychologist to be sure to impart his message to the other ten men who will die with him.

"They must not be low but must be brave and strong," Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel's spirits picked up over the weekend after he received two letters from his wife, who lives in the British zone.

None of the condemned have been told as yet exactly when they will hang.

Constitution Approved By French Voters

By ROBERT C. WILSON
Paris, Oct. 14.—(P)—A constitution for France's fourth republic, providing for a powerful legislature overshadowing the president, bore the stamp of public approval today, given in the face of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's opposition.

The people of continental France accepted the new constitution yesterday by a margin of some 1,212,000 votes—and a percentage of 53.6 in favor to 46.4 opposed. Voting was light, with 31.9 percent of the registered voters staying away from the polls.

Gen. De Gaulle, wartime leader of the fighting French, had contended that the charter was inadequate because under it the executive would be too weak. He warned that the constitution would endanger France's future and urged its rejection.

But the result of the referendum, far from being regarded as a defeat for the general, was taken rather as strong testimony to his continuing prestige. Almost single handedly he nearly defeated the constitution despite the fact that it was backed by France's three major parties.

NO ATOMIC BOMBS OUTSIDE THE STATES

Washington, Oct. 14.—(P)—President Truman declared today there are no atomic bombs outside the United States.

Ever Ayrers, assistant White House press secretary, asserting he was speaking "on the authority of the president," told a news conference:

"The only atomic bombs outside of the United States were those used in the Bikini test and those dropped on Japan."

Ayers made his comment in reply to what he said was an inquiry about a radio broadcast light by Drew Pearson.

He said the broadcast reported that there are atomic bombs outside this country, and added: "That is untrue."

President Truman told his last news conference that no atomic bombs had been sent to Great Britain.

Conciliation Seen In Hotel Walkout

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14.—(P)—The strike which has closed Pittsburgh's eight major hotels for 14 days headed for special conciliation today.

Judge Elmer T. Bell of New York reached the city as head of a three-man panel of the U. S. Conciliation Service to mediate the dispute.

Separate and joint conferences with union and hotel officials are planned. Day and night sessions are planned. Assigned to work with Bell are Conciliators Donald A. Crawford and Charles R. Ward with Howard DeBolt of the State Mediation Board.

The strike was called Oct. 1 by AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance, Local 237, against the Hotels William Penn, Roosevelt, Henry, Keystone, Pittsburgher, Fort Pitt, Schenley and Webster Hotel members of the Pittsburgh Hotels Association Inc. To help finance the strike, restaurant employees are being assessed 50 cents weekly by the union. The 2,000 hotel service employees on strike have also been assessed 50 cents weekly, payable when they return to work.

HULL REPORTED TO BE OUT OF DANGER
Washington, Oct. 14.—(P)—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, seriously ill for two weeks, is now considered to be "out of danger," Bethesda naval hospital reported today.

Reflecting the gains made by the 75-year-old retired cabinet officer, the hospital said it is discontinuing its twice-a-day regular bulletins on his condition.

Hull entered the hospital on Sept. 12 and suffered a stroke on Sept. 30. His condition at one time was considered "most critical" but he began to make definite improvement late last week.

NEGRO MAID EXECUTED AT BELLEFONTE

Chair in State Prison Claims Second Woman Victim Shortly After Midnight

GUILTY OF STABBING

Bellefonte, Oct. 14.—(P)—Pennsylvania executed its second woman in history today.

She was 22-year-old Corrine Sykes, negro housemaid, who paid with her life for the butcher-knife slaying of her Philadelphia employer.

Six minutes after the condemned woman was strapped in the electric chair at 12:31 a. m. Dr. R. E. Carrer, prison physician, pronounced her dead.

Unflinchingly she walked from the death cell to the execution chamber, accompanied by two matrons and the prison chaplain.

The woman quietly watched the final preparations as she listened to the chaplain pray. She wore a gray cotton and wool dress with white pin stripes and brown shoes.

She was convicted of the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Freda Wodlinger in 1944. The prosecution charged robbery as the motive.

Instead of shaving the entire head, prison officials shaved only a spot on the rear of the head.

The other woman to be electrocuted in Pennsylvania was Irene Schroeder, blonde "trigger woman" who was executed on Feb. 25, 1931, for the murder of a highway patrolman.

Arriving at the prison at 2:40 p. m. Sunday after a long automobile ride from Philadelphia, the condemned woman was examined by the prison physician and given a special meal of food which she selected.

Deputy Superintendent C. C. Rhoades said "she showed plenty of nerve" while awaiting the execution. Relatives arranged to claim the body.

The state supreme court in upholding the death sentence termed the housemaid "the perpetrator of an extremely cold-blooded and atrocious murder."

The U. S. supreme court refused to review the case. Repeated pleas for clemency were made to Governor Martin and the state pardons board.

Defense Attorney Raymond Pace Alexander said the woman had a mental age of no more than eight years, and was under the influence of a "domination" of a 40-year-old negro, who was convicted of receiving furs, jewelry and money stolen from Mrs. Wodlinger and was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

Campaigns To Be Probed By House Group

BULLETIN
Washington, Oct. 11.—(P)—C. B. Baldwin, executive vice chairman, testified today that the National Citizens Political Action Committee does not have a "purge list" of candidates or congress it congress its wants defeated.

He told the house campaign expenditures committee that his group confines itself to supplying advice in formal and informal records to affiliates in 14 states. All decisions regarding congressional races are made by the local organizations, he said.

Washington, Oct. 14.—(P)—The house campaign expenditures committee called on two Political Action Committees today to outline their specific roles in the current congressional elections.

Opening the first hearings since its creation, the house group set aside half the day to probing the much-discussed CIO-PAC, and the other half to the National Citizens PAC. Representatives of four other groups are to be questioned tomorrow and Wednesday.

They are the AFL, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the National Association of Manufacturers, and the American Action, Inc. of Chicago, first billed for today but later set back until Tuesday.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) told newsmen no complaints have been received by the committee against any of the organizations, "despite all the furore" about the CIO-PAC.

The fuss over that group began with the house group's consideration of the committee, a usual election year fixture.

The committee usually is established in the spring of campaign year, but the current group was not authorized by the house until July 20 and members were not designated until August 6.

Today's session marks its first hearing, although it has held several closed meetings and sent investigators to Missouri and Florida to check races about which complaints had been received.

President's Decision On What To Do About Meat To Be Heard On Radio Tonight

Washington, Oct. 14.—(P)—Housewives scurrying for meat and politicians for votes cocked an ear to the White House for President Truman's decision tonight on what to do about getting steaks and roasts back.

Hours before the chief executive's all-network broadcast, set for 10 p. m., the Republican party termed the scheduled address "political" and demanded radio time to reply.

While there was no clear-cut indication what Mr. Truman plans to say in his 15-minute discussion of stabilization and the meat problem, the issue before him boiled down to this:

Whether to scrap meat controls outright, as many Republicans and some Democratic leaders have demanded, or keep them unchanged.

Or, whether to compromise on some relaxation of controls involving perhaps higher ceilings, a bonus plan to induce marketing of livestock, and possibly importation of meat.

Mr. Truman is on record as firmly opposed to removal of OPA controls. He took this stand September 26, but at a news conference last week he declined to comment when asked whether he has changed his mind.

One indication that he may have come from a high official who is familiar with the problem. He hinted to a reporter that top aides helping prepare Mr. Truman's special meet at the White House

Gypsy Tribe Leader Sought In Burglary

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—(P)—Police and a gypsy clan today sought a gypsy king and his pretty 20-year-old stepdaughter who might have become a queen for the burglary of $2,500 worth of gypsy heirlooms and jewelry and $150 in cash.

Police Sgt. Joseph Fowler, listing the pair as George Evans, 39, and Patricia Tan, black-haired, small and plump, said Bill Evans, king of the Evano tribe and father of Evans' late queen who died last Sept. 21, swore out the burglary warrant.

Evans gave a list of the articles missing since the disappearance of Evans of the girl and, trembling with emotion as he told his story to police, (Miss Tan is his granddaughter), declared that Patricia never can be queen, the man she would be married to would have become a king and she a queen.

Evans became a gypsy ruler that way. His marriage with Evans' daughter gave him title to the wandering kingdom.

"If the police find them," Evans explained sadly, "they will be simply arrested. If the gypsies find them they will be tarred and feathered. It is law."

"And the gypsies know. They have been told. The word has been sent."

Candidates Facing Busy Three Weeks

Harrisburg, Oct. 14.—(P)—Swinging into the last three weeks of the statewide campaign candidates for both parties were faced with heavy schedules with most of the speech-making being concentrated in the east.

Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor said over the weekend that the CIO is "composed of millions of American workers" who would fight it if it was suggested that they had Communist leanings.

He said that the CIO-PAC, however, is "a horse of another color—mostly red," and he described this wing of the CIO as being "definitely Communist-dominated."

On the other hand U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey called upon Governor Martin, his Republican opponent, to have G.O.P. camrity of the independent unions membership—also are claimed by the other unions—the AFL-International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and CIO-Utility Workers' Union.

The remaining approximately 1,500 independent union members will not take part in the voting, a UMW spokesman explained, because the rival unions do not claim to represent them and they were not named in the UMW petition. The others are clerical employees and meter readers.

The strike grew out of deadlocked negotiations on the independent union's demands for 20 percent wage increases which would advance their basic pay from $1.18 an hour to $1.41. The company has offered a five percent wage hike which the union rejected.

Scant Hopes of Settlement Of Number Major Stoppages

By the Associated Press
A labor dispute which kept 900 Ford Motor Company employees idle 12 days ended, but the nationwide maritime tieup, Washington's hotel walkout and Hollywood's film strike continued with scant hope of early settlement.

This was the situation: Ford-Open hearth foundry workers agreed to go back on the job after their CIO United Auto Workers local authorized a strike vote "on elimination of health hazards" on the plant. Ford also called back 100,000 employees laid off Thursday because of a sheet steel shortage.

Maritime: The striking AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots and CIO Maritime Engineers called other AFL and CIO maritime groups to a joint strategy meeting. Stalemate negotiations between the unions and shipowners were to be resumed tomorrow.

Hotels: AFL engineers in Washington considered joining the walkout of 5,000 AFL service employees of the capital's finest hotels, adding the prospect of cold rooms to other discomforts which have befallen the guests. The gap between the unions' wage demands and the hotels' offer was reported as wide as ever.

Films: Technicians of the AFL-International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees voted to respect "picket lines established at nine major movie studios by a rival group, the conference of studio unions, despite opposition of IATSE high officials who termed the vote "illegal."

FIRST BREAK IN TIEUP IN SMOKY CITY

Question of Accepting Arbitration Before Striking Duquesne Company Employees

TROLLEY MEN VOTING

BULLETIN
Pittsburgh, Oct. 14.—(P)—Trolley men who brought about a paralysis of the city's main transportation system 13 days ago by refusing to pass picket lines of the power union, voted today to return to work immediately.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Motor Bus Coach Drivers who have been idle because of the power strike, voted to return to work at 1 p. m. The vote was unanimous.

The company operates 125 buses. It was the first break in the transportation tieup which began 18 days ago as an off shot of the power workers' strike, now in its 21st day. Mayor David L. Lawrence last week called the power strike the city's worst disaster since the 1936 flood—which caused damage of more than $200,000,000.

Street car men also were voting today on the question of returning. They are the core of the city's transportation system.

Approximately 2,700 members of the AFL-Amalgamated Association of Electric Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees, have stayed away from work 18 days rather than cross picket lines set up at car barns by striking employees of the Duquesne Light Co., who belong to an independent union.

The street car men held a mail vote over the weekend. Results were to be counted this afternoon but union officials said today's meeting was called to expedite the voting.

Mayor Lawrence declared in a radio address last night that the strike was dealing this big industrial area "a brutal and economic beating" and causing the greatest unemployment "since the dark depression days."

The mayor, who played a prominent role in negotiations as a voluntary mediator, urged the utilities to accept the company's offer to arbitrate the long-standing dispute.

The question of accepting arbitration will come before a union meeting tonight which defiant striking members called although the union leaders refused to claim or sanction such a gathering.

The leadership of the 3,200 member union will be put to the test in another way tomorrow in a collective bargaining election ordered by the National Labor Relations Board on the petition of the AFL-United Mine Workers District 30, which claims to represent 1,700 production and maintenance workers. The 1,700 employees are members of independent unions membership—also are claimed by the other unions—the AFL-International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and CIO-Utility Workers' Union.

The remaining approximately 1,500 independent union members will not take part in the voting, a UMW spokesman explained, because the rival unions do not claim to represent them and they were not named in the UMW petition. The others are clerical employees and meter readers.

The strike grew out of deadlocked negotiations on the independent union's demands for 20 percent wage increases which would advance their basic pay from $1.18 an hour to $1.41. The company has offered a five percent wage hike which the union rejected.

Corry Reimbursed For Housing Land

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14.—(P)—Several years of litigation involving condemnation proceedings of 19.26 acres of land for a government defense housing project in Corry ended today when payment of $12,000 to the school district of Corry was authorized in federal court.

Transfer of the money to the school district was authorized in a court order signed by Judge Nelson McVicar on petition of the school district and the Citizens National Bank of Corry. The judgment in the amount of $12,000 had been entered Dec. 1, 1945.

The case reached federal court when the school district and the Citizens National Bank appealed a board of viewers award of $5,000 for the property, located on Columbus avenue, Corry. The school district contended the property was worth $15,000.

The third lecture in the series being held over exalted mothers will be given at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the city building, and at 3 p. m. at the Sugar Grove home economics building.

MEETINGS ATTRACT
About 50 members of Zem Zem Temple of the Mystic Shrine went to Erie Saturday to attend the fall ceremonial of the Shrine. Today another large delegation left for Coudersport to attend the meeting of the Consistory, which will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

PICTURES GET ATTENTION
In the Liberty street window of the Warren National Bank there is a display of photographs taken of the "Pep Meeting" of students held on Second avenue last Friday. Taken by Everett Stokes they are so clear that identification can be made of hundreds in the group of students. Undoubtedly scores of the pictures will find their way into scrap books of the young folks who participated.

GOT FIRST MEAT
William Goss, of Bear Lake, got in the first fresh meat that the store had since OPA began operations bungling the supply. A live deer walked in the front door and ambled about the store for a time. It is a deer that has been about Bear Lake for some time and has become quite tame. It followed a group of children in the drive to the store.

RESIDENTS DUPED
Warren residents are warned to telephone police immediately if solicited by itinerant photographers. Carry reports that residents there were duped by a group that canvassed the city, taking $1 deposits for pictures to be made later. The outfit made reservations at the Corry hotel for the date on which the pictures were to be taken, but never showed up to make the pictures.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:
Pennsylvania's speed limits are 50 miles an hour on the open highway; 25 to 35 miles an hour in business or residential districts where signs are posted; 15 miles an hour in the vicinity of school buildings during opening, recess and closing hours; 10 miles an hour when passing buses taking on or discharging passengers, either at intersections where traffic is controlled by a police officer or a traffic signal, or where safety zones are established.

YOUR TELEPHONE OPERATOR takes professional pride in answering your signal the very second you lift the receiver.

Most of the time she can do this... so she's happy, and you're happy.

Occasionally, however, she can't do it. Sometimes, at peak hours, it's impossible to handle all the traffic without some delay. That's because the vastly increased telephone traffic places extra-heavy loads on switch-board equipment.

This situation is temporary. It will end as soon as we can secure and install the necessary equipment.

Eagles Stage Class Initiation With Many Excellent Features

Conewango Aerie of Eagles Sunday staged a largest class initiation in the history of the local lodge and entertained over 1500 persons during the day at the Eagles Home and the State Armory.

Visitors were in attendance from many towns in this section and Buffalo sent over a delegation of large size with their drill team and a prize-winning drum and bugle corps. There were over 100 in the Buffalo group.

Meadville also sent a fine delegation with their degree team, drill team and excellent quartet and chorus. Other delegations in attendance were from Oil City, Kane, Corry, Erie and other towns in the vicinity.

The groups arriving were greeted at the Eagles Home and in the afternoon all adjourned to the Armory where a class of 130 candidates were initiated and where the Meadville team presented the impressive work. The Buffalo drill team with their drum and bugle corps also appeared.

Following the initiatory work brief addresses were heard from several of the Supreme and state officers. Grand Worthy Conductor, J. P. Taggart, of Kansas City, spoke outlined some of the accomplishments of the Eagles in securing Old Age Pensions for all in the nation and it was pointed out that an effort now under way to lower the age limit and to increase the payments. The Eagles have had a brilliant record of achievement in social work.

Leroy Morris, of Uniontown, Pennsylvania State President, also spoke telling of the work being done in Pennsylvania; Loren Swanson, of Jamestown, New York State Trustee also spoke as did State Deputy Oliver Rice, of Meadville; Worthy President Ray Adams, of Buffalo and others. Distinguished groups of officers from Jamestown, Erie, Oil City, Franklin, Titusville, Meadville, Greenville, Bradford and Pittsburgh were present.

The parade from the Home to the Armory was led by the Meadville Drill team escorting the group of candidates and then came the Buffalo drum and bugle corps, followed by visiting and local members of the Eagles.

Following the ritualistic work at the Armory, dinner was served at the Eagles home to all local and visiting members and their wives and lady friends. The menu was a fine one with roast pork, cabbage and carrot salad, celery, olives and pickles, apple pie and cheese and coffee. Women of the Eagles prepared and served the dinner.

At 7:30 a floor show was presented with six acts from the Williams School of Dancing and the work of the groups won hearty and merited plaudits.

Concluding the evening was a dance staged for all members and visitors and the affair will long be remembered as one of the most successful ever staged by the Conewango Aerie of Eagles.

to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatment using all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip-knee-calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he could sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement for Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

Now he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at all good drug stores.

Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money.

McKenney On Bridge
BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

In addition to winning the national amateur team - of - four championship, Charles Lembeck and Lawrence Blum of New York finished second in the President's Fair event at the recent summer nationals. Eighty-four pairs entered the event, establishing all-time record. Lembeck played today's hand very well, and it is one on which most players would slip up.

He played the eight of spades from dummy on the opening lead and East put on the 10. Now should South win with the jack? If he had, it would have cost him contract. When East got in with the ace of diamonds, he would have shifted to a club and cashed four club tricks.

However, Lembeck false-carded and won the spade trick with the king. Then when East got in, he decided to try to knock out another spade top. Lembeck won with the ace and cashed the four good diamonds and four good hearts.

Little plays like this are what count in bridge. Look before you play to the first trick. Do not just reach for a card because it looks like the natural thing to do.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

It is a truism that American political party labels—at least those of the two major parties—have ceased to mean much. But the truism gets truer all the time, and next month's elections don't promise to clarify the situation.

As James Thrasher says, in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and the Times-Mirror, "in fact, the results may add to the confusion and leave the voter wondering what cohesive force there is, if any, that will be strong enough to hold together the present party alignments from the coming election day to the first Tuesday, after the first Monday of November, 1948."

Time was when a person could say, "I'm a Democrat because I believe in states' rights," or "I'm a Republican because I favor a protective tariff." But those easy identifications have disappeared. Today it isn't enough to learn that someone is a Republican or Democrat. The full information has to include what kind of a Republican or Democrat he is, and why.

These distinctions became a fact among the Democrats early in the Roosevelt administration. They became a fact among the Republicans with the imminence of war. The death of Mr. Roosevelt and the end of the war emphasized rather than removed the distinctions. Both the war and the wartime President were very strong cohesive forces. Now their hold is loosed and the inner seams of both parties are weakening.

So today we have Southern Democrats and Truman Democrats and Wallace Democrats. We have Taft Republicans and Dewey Republicans and Stassen Republicans. But that isn't all, of course. It's much more complicated.

Within the orbit of the Democratic Party are the CIO-PAC, the Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, the Communist, American Labor and Liberal Parties (all three of which are supporting the Democratic slate in New York), Senator Bilbo and Gov. Gene Talmadge.

That lineup represents a lot of incompatibility. But there is even more than appears on the surface. The CIO is inwardly split on Russia and Communism. The same factors broke the Liberal Party away from the pro-Communist ALP. There is dissension in the Independent Citizens' Committee over the Wallace atomic energy plan.

The American Federation of Labor's increasing coolness toward the CIO and the Truman administration might indicate a general AFL drift back toward the Republican Party. This would add variety to a mixture which is considerably varied already.

There are Bricker Republicans who seem to be to the right even of the Taft Republicans. There are Stassen supporters who in many ways are more New-Dealish than some of the men surrounding President Truman. There are registered Republicans whose thinking is almost more Southern Democratic than that of the Solid South itself.

Out of all this confusion two things seem reasonably certain as of today:

1. Some issues, raised for purely domestic political reasons, will have international repercussions—as witness the British reaction to Mr. Truman's and Governor Dewey's recent statements on Palestine.
2. The two 1948 Presidential candidates, whoever they are, will be a profound disappointment to many of their nominal party members.

Speaking of "special weeks" October 13 to 20 has been set aside as a time when everyone should catch up on letter writing. Most every person has an accumulation of unanswered letters, mostly from relatives and friends doubtless anxiously awaiting replies. Why not get busy between now and Sunday and do a little writing? "Make some one feel better—write today!"

All things considered, including the precipitation produced by the Weatherman, that 12-6 score in the annual Warren-Jamestown high school game at Russell Field Saturday afternoon, looks like a moral victory for Coach Leidig's huskies, appeared well on the way to a triumph as they battled in ankle deep mire during the last half. The loyal fans who cheered them proved again that it takes more than a downpour to dampen the ardor of Warren rooters.

National Business Women's Week, October 13-19, is dedicated by its sponsor, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., to the theme "Let's Work Together For Better Communities", in which each club is asked to emphasize the contribution which business and professional women make as volunteers to the community.

Washington Daybook

By BRACK CURRY (For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON—Controlled immigration is bringing better potential citizens to America. The penniless alien in colorful native garb who flooded the nation's gateways in the old days now is seldom seen, says the U.S. Immigration Service.

Today's typical immigrant, it says, "is more likely to have cleaner habits, to be better educated and better supplied with money."

And he sails or flies to America in style, compared with pre-World War I days. The word "steerage" is now only a term.

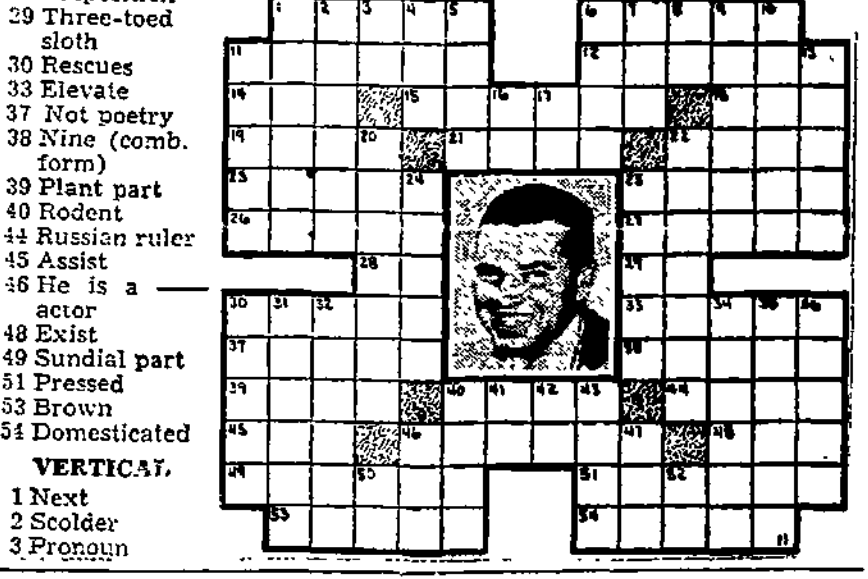

THE service says this in the latest issue of its publication "Monthly Review."

"In the olden days steerage quarters, between decks, ran the entire length and width of the ship with double-decker bunks and no partitions. Women and small children slept on one side of the vessel, men on the other."

"Cattle, pigs, goats and chickens were carried on deck. This was the only way to obtain fresh meat, milk and poultry since there was no refrigeration. Passage cost from $10 upwards."

Congress moved in 1917 to prevent the immigration of undesirable aliens. It passed the Basic Immigration Act, which among other things listed the excludable

New steel fence posts are being put in at the fence on the Btes street side of the school grounds. This fence blew down recently during one of our severe wind storms. The old posts were also of steel but had weathered so that they did not hold and went down with the rest of the fence in the storm. The fence fell on a parked car outside the grounds but fortunately did little damage.

The Student Council is hard at work in plans for making the annual school Halloween Party to which the public is invited better than ever. The date now being considered is October 29th.

Chapter 16

MORRISSEY was not hot and bothered; he was brisk and determined and his words were friendlier than his voice.

"How are things, Marty? I heard about you going down for questioning. I see you came through without getting hurt."

"They didn't have anything to go on except a suspicion that I wasn't cooperating. But you aren't here to talk about my life and loves; you're on the trail of that letter you gave me."

"Did the cops get it?"

Martin shook his head. "Cloud has a picture of it, made at the Record office, though. He wants to get his hands on the original. It's too bad about that mistake."

"It was the girl," Morrissey said.

"I told Cloud she'd made a mistake. I remember what you said."

"Where's that letter, Marty?"

"I had to put it where I can't lay hands on it in a hurry. If everything goes right I'll try to get it for you later."

"Tell me where it is and I'll send someone after it."

"No."

Morrissey leaned forward abruptly. "How much do you want? I've already dropped plenty in this deal, but I'll go for another thousand. Take it or leave it."

"Just for that," Martin said, "I may never give it back to you. What I dislike most about Ennis is that he thinks he can bribe me. I haven't got anything against having money, but I am particular how I get it."

"I want the letter, Marty. Get that straight, because I'm not fooling."

Martin was nearing the point of exasperation. "I'm not getting anywhere," he said. "I've outlined the situation as plainly as I know how. You'll have to make the best of it."

"Be good to yourself, Marty. You know how much trouble I can make if someone crosses me. You wouldn't want any more problems than you've already got."

"You're not being smart," Morrissey stood up, buttoning his coat; neither his face nor his eyes betrayed the slightest emotion. "Most people think twice before turning on me."

Martin glowered at the door after it had closed behind Morrissey. He had made a dangerous enemy, but far from being upset about it, he was glad. He had more than a slight suspicion that Morrissey had murdered Searle; and now that an open break between them had been brought about by the gambler himself, he would enjoy trying to prove it.

TEN minutes after Morrissey had gone the phone rang again. Interrupted in pleasant speculations charting the successive steps by which his late caller might be maneuvered toward the electric chair, Martin answered with a curt "Yes?"

A liquid burbling sound in the receiver startled him; it ended in an explosive sob and then a hoarse voice struggled through and said thickly, "Lee. Oh, Lee, you've just got to help me."

"What's wrong?" Martin asked, involuntarily mimicking Dexter's manner of speaking. For the voice belonged to Clarabelle Messmer; his husky plaint called up her likeness as vividly as if she had been in the room, blowsy and muddled and quite drunk.

"I'm so frightened, Lee. An awful policeman was here most of the afternoon trying to make me say things I didn't want to. I'm sure he thinks I killed Richard. I can't sleep or anything. I'm so worried."

"There's nothing to worry about."

"That's what you always say. But ever since that horrid reporter was here terrible things have been happening. Now I'll never get any of that money. And you'll have to get that letter from him so I can burn it up before he uses it to make more trouble, so the police won't suspect him."

Martin took compassion on her.

Box Office Open For Reservations For Week's Play

Mildred Schorman, box office chairman for the Warren Players, announces today that the box office is now open for seat reservations for "My Sister Eileen," the hilarious comedy which the Players will present to the public on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Box office hours tonight, Tuesday, and Wednesday will be from 7 to 9 p. m. and from 7:30 to 8:30 on the nights of the play. Applicants who have not already secured season memberships should do so at once in order to effect a considerable saving in admission cost for the season's four plays. Individual admissions are also now available to "My Sister Eileen," upon application to the box office.

The definite conclusion, even at this stage, is that "My Sister Eileen" will be a sell-out hit, a fact not difficult to understand in view of the excellent advance reputation the play has achieved, together with the big draw of the attraction of Astrid Cowden and her hard working cast.

The play represents the peak of 20th Century craftsmanship in comedy production, combining sophisticated wit with the uproarious humor of the farcical situation. Mrs. Cowden, probably Warren's most talented and authoritative director in this type of production, reports that she has seen work on a more brilliantly written play than "My Sister Eileen." Reports from members of the cast are similarly enthusiastic, with the result that playgoers can expect completely delightful evenings of entertainment on Thursday and Friday.

The box office committee again reminds the public that early seat reservations will diminish the inevitable last-minute congestion on the nights of production and will also ensure a better choice of seats.

Post-Game Events Keep Younger Set Busy on Saturday

Immediately after the Warren-Jamestown football game Saturday afternoon, the High School Girls' Civic Club held open house at the YWCA activities building, followed by a PAK dance in the evening.

The dance was sponsored by the Club "17" of the PAK, the music being furnished by Creed Erickson's band. Tessie Pino, Joe Fuelhart and Bobbie Dobbs hit the hot notes on the saxes and while McCarthy and Jerry Wyckoff handled the trumpets, the maestro himself taking over on the drums and Keith Nicholson handling the boogie-woogie on the piano.

The dance was very much enjoyed by visitors from Jamestown, including a big share of the Raiders' team, Bradford and Cleveland, plus a host of regular followers.

Chapter 17

DORAN was twirling a goblet of beer and staring vacantly into the mirror behind Rossetti's bar; he caught sight of Martin's image in the glass, raised his eyebrows and moved to a booth in the back.

"A man in my position can't be too careful about the company he's seen with," he remarked as Martin joined him. "So far I've managed to keep my reputation stainless, but—"

"Guess what," Martin interrupted. "I'm accepting Ennis' pressing invitation to go back to the Record providing I can be city editor and have you for an assistant."

"Don't do it," Doran warned. "Smart as I am, it's all I can do to unravel the snarls my assistants make for me. Think how helpless you'd be to cope with a saboteur of my diabolic ingenuity."

Dominick loomed over them, solemnly respectful. "Hello, Marty, my friend. This time you not forget me, eh?"

"No, Nick, nor the favor you did for me. Meet Bill Doran, a good guy but not too bright."

They ordered beer, and when Dominick had served it, he withdrew to answer the phone.

"What time were you really here, Marty?"

"About half an hour after I found the body."

Doran shook his head gravely. "I was afraid that I was pretty sure you were headed for home when I left you. You know, Marty, if they're keeping after Nick they'll be checking on who else was here and asking them questions, too."

"I suppose so. But no one paid any attention to us."

"You can't tell. A good-looking girl usually draws attention. By the way, how in the devil did you happen to pick up Barbara Ennis? I thought she was poison to you."

"I didn't pick her up, Bill. She was in my place when I got there."

"Good Lord."

"She was in the living room. The door was open and she was at the front door jimmied. Searle was lying on the bed in the next room pretty much the way he was found this morning. She didn't know he was there."

"Are you sure she didn't?"

"As sure as I can be. Searle phoned her to meet him at my place and she'd just got there and found the door open. He'd told her to take the letters and would try to make trouble with them."

"No wonder Ennis was as nervous as a pup at a cat show," Doran said wonderingly. "One word from you would put him and his daughter in a mess they couldn't get out of in a lifetime."

"I'm not saying the word," Martin said. "Neither are you, the only other person who knows. Somebody else was in that apartment ahead of Barbara and me and if the homicide boys don't beat me to it I'm going to find out or bust a gut trying."

"If I didn't know you better," Doran said, "I'd suspect the worst. You talk like a man in love."

"I am."

Doran whistled softly.

DOMINICK came out of the phone booth and bore down on them, panting. "For you, Marty."

It was Dexter and he was worried. He asked, "Did you hide anything up here in the rooms, Marty? Those letters you had, for instance?"

"No. Why?"

"Someone must have thought so. I just came in to find the place ransacked—carpets ripped up, beds torn to pieces, baseboards sprung and all the rest. As thorough a job as I ever saw; but I can't find out that anything's missing."

"Morrissey," Martin guessed. "He was around this evening threatening to turn on the heat if I didn't give him his letter. I put him out."

Brushing Up

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, gathering at 7:30 this evening at the home of President Ruth Henderson to dress dolls for overseas children, spent the weekend ransacking attics for remnants, scraps of lace and ribbon to add the festive touch to the finished garments. . . . Warren news seems to be getting around these days, as is evidenced from the following note received by Hildur Jacobson, instructor for the YWCA Swedish classes: "I have just read of the great success with which your course in Swedish has been received this year. It is encouraging to all of us who are interested in Scandinavian culture to learn of such enthusiasm. Heartly congratulations to you and best wishes for the year." (Signed) Marshall W. S. Swan, curator of the American Swedish Historical Museum, Philadelphia. . . . The Army Weekly News Sheet again reminds that Christmas packages for army personnel stationed overseas may be mailed without request slips between October 15 and November 15, but due discretion should be given the distance the package must be sent. For example, parcels destined for Korea should be mailed sooner than those for troops in England. Present limitation of weight and size—70 pounds and 100 inches in length and girth combined—will prevail. Not more than one package will be accepted for mailing in any one week when sent by the same person to the same addressee. . . . Mrs. F. J. Kotmair, who is president of Community PTA Council this season, advises that Clara Tree Major poster contest instructions have been given the principal of each school and all entries must be in by Friday, October 25. First and second prizes are to be awarded in each grade for posters best depicting the two plays to be presented this year: "Nobody's Girl" on November 9 and "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" on March 29. Gossip has it that tickets will be at a premium for "My Sister Eileen," first fall offering and 47th public production of the Warren Players Club, to be given at the Woman's Club on Thursday and Friday evenings.

Maryland Wedding Of Interest Here

Many local relatives and friends will read with interest the following excerpts from an article appearing in the October 4th issue of the "Advance Leader" of Oakmont:

A pretty, late summer military wedding ceremony in the Broadway Methodist church, Baltimore, Md., at 8:30 p. m. Friday, September 20, united in marriage the former Fonda Stover, daughter of Mrs. Elsie M. Stover, of Oakmont, and William R. Morse, son of Dr. Mae M. Morse, of Warren. Dr. John German officiated as rector.

Mrs. C. Stewart Foreman, of Baltimore, was matron of honor, and Captain Bernard J. Sweeney, of Camp Holabird, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by Major Paris Harkin of Tucson, Arizona, and the ushers were Sgt. Frank Davis of Conshohocken, and Cpl. Ted Bradley of Louisville, Ky. Mothers of the couple were escorted by Stewart Foreman and Cramer J. Hundley, both of Baltimore.

The bride chose a beige crepe dress with the side caught in gold bugle beads. With it she wore a pink feather hat and brown accessories, and carried a bouquet of Sunstro roses. Her matron of honor was dressed in milk brown crepe, with a simple bodice of hand painted design, ostrich tips for her hair, and brown accessories, with a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception followed for fifty persons at the home of Mrs. Eileen Ennis. Guests of honor included the bride party, Colonel and Mrs. Fred S. Doll, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. A. Steers, commanding officers of the Intelligence Division of 34 Army Headquarters where the groom is stationed.

Mrs. Morse, a graduate of Dickinson Junior College, is employed as a secretary; and Mr. Morse, a graduate of University of Pittsburgh, is a special agent, with the Army's Counter-Intelligence Corps.

Following a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, the couple will reside in Baltimore.

Sparks falling on flammable wooden roofs stand third among the principal causes of home fires.

DRAGONS DROP BITTER CONTEST; JACKETS MAKE IT 5 WINS

WARREN HIGH GRIDDERS BOW TO JAMESTOWNERS SATURDAY IN THE RUSSELL FIELD MUD

The Warren High Dragons dropped their most bitterly contested game of the season when they lost to the Jamestown Red Raiders, 12-6, Saturday afternoon in the Russell field mud.

The Red and Green with Fullback Dimas as their big gun, amped all over Warren early in the game but the Dragons held tightly after Jamestown had scored twice in the first half and came back to score in the third and fourth quarters.

At the kickoff the Jamestowners started on a drive that didn't end until they had crossed the Warren goal, Dimas taking the ball on out of fourteen times, making 15 first downs in the drive, at Stevens made the touchdown on a seven yard plunge. The ball fumbled hands the rest of the first quarter with no serious threats being made.

Tickets for the Bradford game have been received at the high school and will be on sale Monday to Friday noon. Tickets for both students and adults are on hand and are being sold so as to avoid congestion at the ticket windows when game time rolls around.

In the second quarter the Raiders took the ball over in four plays starting from the Warren 4 yard line. Stevens made the touchdown run from the twenty yard line. The ball shifted hands for the rest of the second quarter.

Warren started in at the beginning of the second half, the rest of the game being shortened because of the driving rain Warren started in their own territory on the march that netted them six points through Dave Lopez's brokenfield running. Lopez carried the ball 21 on a 33 yard jaunt around right end off the spread formation and then almost immediately carried the ball the remainder of the distance from the same for-

Bill Thayer, wide awake in the second, blocked a Buffalo punt, and it was his alertness that paved the way for Jackets third score, giving Warren possession on Buffalo's 30, where after a single try, Frank Funair faked a reverse, and with a wide open spacer, jaunted to a touchdown. The play, well executed, caught the Bison boys flat footed, and put the locals well in front, 19 to 0.

Buffalo finally got started at this stage, scoring a quick touchdown, with Tarquino taking a lateral from P. Dipirro who had clicked off his territory after snagging a near pass from Fullback Graham. The net gain on the Republicans' play here was 60 yards, and was the visitors' best of the afternoon as Dipirro was about to be downed when he shot back his lateral. The

STEFFAN GOES 63 YARDS FOR SHEFFIELD WIN

The Sheffield Wolverines pulled a 7-0 edge over the Corry High school team at Corry's Loveland field under the lights Friday night giving them one more win to offset their one loss of the season to Ridgway.

The Sheffielders took Corry in such a way that they pay tribute to their county, a way that would be hard to equal by another team. The Orange and Black walked all over the Corryites in garnering first downs to the oppositions sad looking 4.

The Corry team stopped many Sheffield attacks and kept the ball changing hands but the Wolverines managed to keep Corry on the defensive and keeping the ball in enemy territory a big share of the time.

Sheffield's touchdown came when "Gundy" Steffan took the pigskin off tackle on a 63 yard jaunt that paid off in dividends. Peterson place-kicked the extra point.

Corry's only threat that amounted to much was a march to the Wolverine 12 yard line in the initial stanza, giving the Sheffield fans a big share as it was anybody's ball game that early in the contest.

Steffan's final stanza scoot in a game that was hard-fought on both sides proved to be the factor that stretched the Corry red ink column to a deficit of 3 games.

For their regular blood thirsty battle with the Eagles from the other side of the county, the Wolverines are girding through the daily drills of head coach Mike Cashmere and principal L. O. Eisenhauer.

YOUNGVILLE HOLDS ELKERS TO 0-0 SCORE

Youngsville High's Eagles battled to a 0-0 tie at Irvine's Wilder Field Saturday afternoon with the Ridgway High squad in a steady downpour of rain that made a joke of all passing and trick play attempts.

Ridgway is the only team that has defeated our other county team, Sheffield this season, but due to the rain and the extremely sloppy field the tie held by the Youngvillers proves nothing about the favoritism as to the winners of next Saturday afternoon's Sheffield-Youngsville encounter.

About the only real threat the Eagles gave was in the third quarter when they worked the ball down slightly into the visitors 20 yard marker, but this in itself is a major accomplishment over the highly touted Ridgway club.

Youngsville was on the defense most of the first half and held back a Ridgway threat 16 inches from the Youngsville goal for three downs until the half ended. Another Ridgway threat was stalled on the eight yard line in the third stanza.

Dick Spencer did a big share of the punting for the Eagles and pulled them out of some tough spots with his hefty nudges.

Next Week's game between Sheffield and Youngsville will be one for the books, for next to the Warren-Jamestown tangle theirs is the most bitterly fought game in this section. Sheffield holds the edge over the Eagles this season, having defeated them 12-6 in their first game.

The Cat Comes Back

"CAT" BRECHEEN MAKES IT AGAIN FOR CARDS; FERRIS WILL MEET DICKSON TUESDAY

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—(P)—Sam Bredon is selling tickets today for a seventh World Series game at Sportsman's ark because his St. Louis Cardinals have as many lives as a cat—Harry "The Cat" Brecheen.

It weren't for the game little lefthander from Oklahoma, the Boston Red Sox would have been measured for series rings long ago and the Red Irls would be scattered to the four winds instead of planning strategy for tomorrow's finale.

In the cold light of dawn there is room for a solid suspicion that "The Cat" and the Cards spent their last life in a 4-1 win yesterday. The Sox have Dave (Doc) Farnes, their 25-game winner, primed for a second straight shut out bid and there is no reason to believe he won't be just as effective as he was in Boston.

The odds definitely are against the home club which will have Murry Dickson on the mound. However, an extra day of rest will benefit the Cards. Marty Marion is playing with an aching back. Howie Pollett, if needed, will have more time to let his arm side muscle mend and Elmer Slaughter, who played gamely in the sixth contest despite a painfully swollen right elbow, will be more like his usual self. Yesterday, the slugging right fielder contributed two nice catches and knocked Mackey Harris out of the box with a third-inning single.

Slaughter was the last Card to face the lefthanded Harris who yielded five hits, all in the third, before he was replaced by Tex Hughson. The big Texan turned

Boards Ready Machines For Nov. Election

Warren County's election board has begun preparations for the November 5 election and anticipate a turnout of about 50% of the registered vote of 11,678. With the official election ballot received from Harrisburg preparation of the voting machines in use in the county is already under way and delivery of them to the precinct voting places will be made during the week of October 28.

The demand for military ballots has been exceptionally light. Up until today no requests have been received. All military ballots are sent out as quickly as requests were received in previous years so that they could be returned in time to be counted in the final returns.

Letters have been mailed to all election board members with a request that they signify whether or not they can serve on election day, so that replacements may be made if necessary. In previous years the Board was informed at the last minute in many cases and it was difficult to make substitutions.

As usual a voting machine will be set up in the Court House some days previous to election day where persons unfamiliar with the operation may call and receive instruction.

Estimates of the probable vote on November 5 vary from 40 to 50% or even higher. County officials feel that the intensity of the state campaign, the meat shortage and other features may be reflected in heavy voting.

Truck Struck Headwall Near Grand Valley

Ronald Averill, of Pleasantville suffered pelvic injuries when his pickup truck crashed into a headwall on Route 27 near the junction of the Tidoute road, between Grand Valley and Torpedo, about 9 o'clock Saturday night.

It is thought that he dozed momentarily with the result that his truck hit the obstruction and then went into a ditch. He was traveling toward Warren at the time the crash took place.

The injured man was taken to the Titusville hospital by W. A. Rockow, of Grand Valley. Last night it was reported he was suffering considerable pain and that the full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

The truck was virtually demolished by the impact, the engine being driven back into the cab. It had not been removed from the ditch yesterday.

A taxicab and truck smashed into each other at Fourth and Laurel streets here Friday afternoon with resultant damage to both machines. The loss was quite heavy.

K. of C. Has Columbus Day Observance

Columbus Day was fittingly observed yesterday by the members of Warren Council, 964, Knights of Columbus.

The observance started with a corporate communion at the 8:15 mass at St. Joseph's church.

Following the breakfast was served in the K. of C. rooms on Pennsylvania avenue, west. The tables were prettily arranged and the breakfast, served by a committee of wives of members, was very graciously served and enjoyed by all.

Following the breakfast Hon. Allison D. Wade, presiding judge of Warren county, was introduced by Dr. J. T. Valone. Mr. Wade's talk was most interesting and he held the rapt attention of his listeners. He compared the condition of the world at the time of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus with the present time and showed that there has not been much advancement in the friendship between the nations and aggression.

Scattered Stocks Display Fairly Active Tendencies

BY VICTOR HUBER

New York, Oct. 11—(P)—Scattered stocks displayed further progressive tendencies in today's market while many leaders slipped.

Dealings quieted after a fairly active opening. While a few "thin" issues jumped 5 or 6 points on meager sales, fractional minus and plus signs were pretty evenly divided near the fourth hour.

Commission houses found numerous customers inclined to hold aloof pending the president's address to the nation scheduled for this evening. A certain amount of bidding, it was added, could be traced to the belief a further technical correction of the lengthy slide was in order. Hopes for price decontrols generally were seen as a sustaining factor.

Goodyear enjoyed a bulge on a boosted dividend and special. Resistant were U. S. Rubber, Pennsylvania Railroad, Chesapeake and Ohio, Eastman Kodak, Du Pont, U. S. Gypsum, North American, American Water Works, Kennecott and Anaconda.

Laggards included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, International Nickel, Union Carbide, Armour, Wilson and Co., Texas Co., Great Northern and N. Y. Central.

Bonds and commodities were mixed.

It will be good news to his many friends that Boris A. Waxman, patient in Warren General Hospital for the past six weeks, has been removed to his home, 10 Verbeck street. He will not be permitted visitors for a time, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Anderson spent Friday in Titusville, where they attended the funeral services of Frank L. Dell, held at the Tracey Funeral Home.

Robert E. Uhr, Mary Uhr and Dorothy Smith, were in Cleveland, O., for the weekend, guests of Jennie Smith, who is attending college in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Meacham, Crescent Park, spent the weekend in Sayre.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cain, who were wedded Saturday at Randolph, N. Y., spent some time in Warren Saturday evening, boarding a train here for a honeymoon in Washington, D. C.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gerrey and children, North Warren, have returned from a weekend visit in Ashtabula, Ohio.

John McLaughlin, service manager of the Keystone Ford Garage, has just returned from the October service managers' training school conducted by Ford Motor Company at Buffalo.

Barbara Boynton, who is attending Harrisburg Business College, was home for the weekend to attend the Warren-Jamestown game.

Richard Guild, Branch street, spent the weekend at home from his studies at Pennsylvania State College.

Bill Yeager, student at Washington and Jefferson College, spent the weekend at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Yeager, Conewango avenue.

Cohort Urges Deeds

Nazis To Be Strong

death cells of nine of the condemned Nazis who face execution Wednesday, but was refused by Streicher and Alfred Rosenberg, who preferred to spend their final Sabbath reading books.

Confessions from the Catholic members of the condemned group were heard by the Rev. Sixtus O'Connor. The remainder of the 18 Germans sentenced to hang or to serve prison terms were visited by the Rev. H. F. Gerecke, German Lutheran clergyman, who read prayers to them.

The convicted Nazis were told officially yesterday that the Allied Control Council, their last court of resort, had denied their appeals for clemency, or—in some cases—for death by the firing squad instead of hanging. The prisoners, most of whom had heard the news previously from their wives, took it stoically.

Constitution Approved By French

Official interior ministry returns for continental France showed 9,002,467 votes for the constitution of 1790, 676 against it.

The constitution will not take effect until early December, when parliament is scheduled to be seated.

One chamber, the national assembly of deputies, will be elected Nov. 10. The second, the council of the Republic, is to be chosen by a complicated electoral college system. The charter will be effective from the day that two-thirds of the council's members are seated.

Order Placed By P. R. R. For New Boxcars

T. Pennsylvania Railroad announced today the placing of orders for 1,100 new box cars of the most modern types for delivery early next year. To be built of high tensile steel, the cars will include 100 of an unusually large size equipped with newly developed devices which will make possible heavier and more secure loading of a wide variety of merchandise shipments.

Following close on the completion of 600 other box cars ordered earlier, the new car program will not only increase the nation's supply of modern freight equipment, but will give shippers the advantage of the latest developments in freight car design and efficiency. The cars will be built at the railroad's Altoona, Works.

The 100 cars to be especially equipped to handle merchandise shipments will have an interior length of 60 feet, six inches, making them 20 feet longer than the standard box car. Adjustable shelves, racks and bulkheads will permit crates and packages to be so separated and secured as to prevent shifting, and consequent damage. These devices, together with the unusual length of the cars will enable the railroad to carry heavy loads with fewer cars, with a consequent increase in efficiency.

Wood Cutting Deserves Care In Selection

With the fall logging season coming on, now is the time to get your local public forester to go over your woodlot and help you to plan the logging job. If there is no public forester in your locality you might have a talk with your county agent. He can at least get you some helpful pamphlets from your state or Federal forest services.

In recent years there has been a noticeable trend toward the cutting of woodlands on a "marked tree" basis. This is a method of harvesting which takes only selected trees, instead of the old practice of selling and cutting on what they called "by the boundary".

The marked tree harvest generally shows a much greater profit for the land owners. The buyers or operators seem to like it too, once they get used to it. As a rule, it also leaves a good residual stand of trees to come along for the next harvest. Those operators who plan to remain in business in their present locality seem to like this good remaining stand idea as it means future supplies of trees for them.

If you can get a public forester to show you how to select trees to be marked for sale it will be profitable to do so. At least the U. S. Forest Service assures us that thousands of farm woodlot owners are saying so in localities where they have local public forester service.
